Chris Krause

Chris Krause is an award winning singer/songwriter. His rich and soulful voice will captivate your attention from start to finish, and is often compared to Trace Adkins, Randy Travis, and Josh Turner. Raised in Pontoon Beach, Illinois, Chris was introduced to music at an early age and his love for it quickly turned into a passion. He started with appearances on Easter Seals telethons and then onto regular performances at a variety of venues. Those years were highlighted by a talent showcase on the stage of the Grand Ole Opry. Late in 2006, Chris released his Nashville recorded, debut CD appropriately titled, "No Pain, No Gain". This is a compilation of 10 original songs. His second CD, "Before my Time" was released in late 2009 and is full of fan requested cover country classics. In 2011 Chris released the much awaited Gospel CD titled "God's Whispers". Chris entertains all over Illinois. Check out his upcoming dates to catch a show. (www.chriskrause.com) Chris took home six awards at the 2014 NACMAI Awards in Pigeon Forge, Tennessee. His awards included Gospel Songwriter of the Year for his song "At The Cross", Most Promising Songwriter of the Year - Bluegrass for "In His Hands", Male Vocalist of the Year - Traditional Country, Album of the Year Traditional Country for "Before My Time", a 2nd place finish for Most Promising Duo of the Year with Stephanie Foster, and Rising Star for Entertainer of the Year.
